

Comprital gives a strong technical and legal assistance after the selling stage.

Basically, Comprital's services can be grouped into 4 areas:

Customized recipes, developed within hours of request and supplied complete with relevant nutritional information and technical data;

Industrial consultancy, which begins months before we begin supplying properly, and is continued through the establishment of constant contact with those in charge of operating the equipment;

the provision of updates and professional training courses, run by technicians from our R&D team; the provision of legal updates and advice in relation to current legislation relevant to our customers.
